Eastern Shore of Virginia Community Foundation 2019/2020
Annual Report Featuring Grants, Gifts and Financial Data from 2019

The familiar adage that "...every dark cloud has a silver lining..." couldn't be truer as in the midst of a global pandemic, our community pulled together to protect and care for our most at-risk members. Shore Delivery Corps was launched after only a few weeks of planning and nimbly and effectively began to deliver groceries, supplies and pharmaceuticals to the elderly and at-risk neighbors to help keep them safe at home.

The mission of the SDC is to provide free delivery of necessary medical supplies, prescriptions and perishable and non-perishable groceries to our fellow Eastern Shore citizens who are at the highest risk for COVID-19 infection and complications. This allows this population to stay at home, away from public places and decreasing the potential exposure and spread of this virus.

In late March after schools and many businesses were shut down due to the spread of COVID-19, Jeff Holland, President of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel and local community leader, along with a motivated group of volunteers, instigated an idea to help keep our community safe by deploying volunteers to deliver necessities to the elderly and at-risk community members.

Very quickly, a cross-section of committed community and church members joined together to organize the Shore Delivery Corps. Working through an effective committee structure, within two weeks volunteers were on the road delivering groceries and other items to clients.

The realization that many in our community needed groceries and supplies quickly became evident, so the SDC, working with the Eastern Shore of Virginia Community Foundation and the United Way of the Eastern Shore, began to serve folks in need at no charge to help keep them safe and healthy. Shore Delivery Corps will deliver up to $100 worth of food to needy individuals at no charge and, more importantly, connect the individual to a mobile food pantry to sustain them through the pandemic.

In addition, in late Spring, the SDC began delivering free paper products to clients and then expanded their program to deliver meals to school children twice a week.

Shore Delivery Corps was initially underwritten with a $25,000 grant from the Eastern Shore of Virginia Foundation and operates under its auspices. The group has received additional donations totaling approximately $11,000 through June 30, 2020.

Since inception, SDC volunteers fielded more than 1,800 calls and made more than 2,200 deliveries. 12,623 rolls of toilet paper and 5,340 rolls of paper towels were distributed to community households in need.

Recently recognized by United Way Worldwide Innovation team for their unique idea and implementation, the SDC continues to serve our community and connecting willing, able volunteers with neighbors. The group's effort truly embodies "Love Thy Neighbor" in an actionable and meaningful way.

"Working together, we can all make a difference in preserving the lives and good health of our fellow citizens who are at the greatest risk of serious complications from COVID-19," said Corps leader Jeff Holland.

Dear Friends and Supporters,

As I write this letter, we are currently into our sixth month of coping with a global pandemic. Predictably, our friends and neighbors on the Eastern Shore of Virginia rose to the challenge of helping our community stay healthy and to continue to thrive.

Driven by the sudden and unexpected needs of non-profits on the Shore, the ESVCF provided $75,000 in emergency operating grants to organizations meeting social needs such as the Shore Delivery Corp., Coalition Against Domestic Violence, The Food Bank, Dos Santos Food Pantry, Northampton Educational Foundation, United Way and many others.

In December 2019, the Eastern Shore of Virginia Community Foundation concluded fifteen years of grant making. During this time the foundation awarded over 100 grants totaling more than $3,000,000 to non-profits in our two-county area.

The growth of the foundation reflects the deep dedication and commitment of our board and our supporters. At the close of 2019, ESVCF had an endowment of over $11,500,000 and illustrates both the generosity of our donors as well as the broad range of our community needs. The foundation has been successful in meeting this broad range of needs through the efforts of many individuals. To all of you, I express my deepest appreciation.

A part of life on Virginia's Eastern Shore has always been the profound level of community support. This type of giving is the bedrock of our foundation and I would be remiss if I didn't publicly thank each of our supporters and friends for their past and continuing support and enthusiasm.

In addition, I'm very pleased to tell you of the dedication, service and wisdom our present and previous board members have devoted to the foundation. Without the spirit and willingness of these individuals, the success mentioned above would not have been possible. To each goes my deepest appreciation for their commitment and community pride.

In closing, it is with great excitement that we approach the future and working to make our local organizations stronger and more efficient as community assets. Again, thank you for your generous support and interest in the foundation and to each of you I extend my best wishes.

Sincerely,

Julie M. Badger - Executive Director

Dos Santos Food Pantry and Community Services

Dos Santos is the Spanish term for 'two saints'. It reflects the origin of this ministry that began at two historically yoked faith communities of St. George's and St. James' Episcopal churches.

Dos Santos is an independent 501(c)3 created to serve as an avenue for accomplishing ministry to the Latino immigrant population on the Eastern Shore. Dos Santos is also a partner agency of the Foodbank of Southeast Virginia and the Eastern Shore and the only Spanish-speaking pantry in the region. The outreach serves a sizable migrant farmworker and Latino immigrant community by providing staple foods such as corn flour for tortillas, rice, beans, poultry and fresh vegetables, along with clothing and personal hygiene items.

Dos Santos expanded to include an organic community garden to help supply the pantry, and much more. A mobile version of the pantry also distributes food and other necessities in trailer parks and migrant camps.

Most recently, during the COVID 19 crisis, the Community Foundation provided emergency grant funding to Dos Santos to help meet a sharply increased need for food to the Latino community on the Shore.

Foodbank of Southeastern VA & the Eastern Shore

The Food Bank of Southeastern Virginia and the Eastern Shore is leading the effort to eliminate hunger in our community

Since 1981, the Foodbank of Southeastern Virginia and the Eastern Shore, a member of Feeding America™ and the Federation of Virginia Food Banks, has been providing food for hungry people throughout Southeastern Virginia and on the Eastern Shore.

In 1980, when a small group of individuals from the Southeastern Tidewater Opportunity Project (STOP, Inc.) of Hampton Roads came together to start the Community Food and Nutrition Program, it is unlikely that they knew how the program would grow.

Just one year after seeds of hope were planted, that program became a nonprofit organization and one of Virginia's first food banks. What started as a program to serve the hungry has matured into what is now the Foodbank of Southeastern Virginia and the Eastern Shore. The organization has grown from distributing approximately 400,000 pounds of food in its first year to distributing close to 18 million pounds of food each year since 2016.

They take great pride in the accomplishment of distributing more than 300 million meals through our robust network of partner agencies and programs since incorporating in 1981.

In 2019, the Food Bank on the Eastern Shore realized that they needed additional freezer space to continue to meet the growing needs in our community. The Eastern Shore of Virginia Community Foundation provided a grant of $50,000 to help meet those needs as well as providing additional emergency grant funding during the COVID-19 crisis.

The Food Bank also recognized the need for their work to evolve and address the root causes and consequences of hunger and food insecurity. As the organization continues to evolve, they remain steadfast in their commitment to achieving the ambitious vision for a hunger-free community and plan to continue to provide healthy, nutritious food for individuals struggling with hunger and begin to broker collaborative partnerships that leverage food in programs offering access to employment, higher education, housing, healthcare and financial literacy.

Eastern Shore Literacy Council

This story is written by Asuman Kahaoglu.

Asuman Kahaoglu

I came to the United States from the Black Sea, the town of Giresun, in Turkey. I have lived in Accomack County for about six years. I began working with the Literacy Council 5 years ago. When I first started, I had trouble expressing myself, and I was embarrassed to speak English. It was frightening for me that people did not understand me, but the teachers and everyone I met (in class) was very helpful.

Being together with friends in the classroom is a combination of different cultures with love and respect. We shared our troubles with each other and everyone struggled with many of the same problems. We were both learning and getting to know each other.

When I work with my tutor, I feel very comfortable. We have sharing every moment and trust each other. I was able to ask everything that I did not know very easily, and this helped me a lot. We spent a nice time together; we did lessons and would chat. She supported me whenever I had a problem with my lessons.

Now, I am trying to talk without fear. I'm more confident getting in touch with other people.

Before Covid 19, I volunteered at Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital. I wanted to be involved in the community. I was very happy to help people who needed help. I saw sick people, although the patients behaved well. I gave out newspapers, books and magazines. These little things helped them feel happy. I felt happy to meet some new people, which helped me a lot.

The Literacy Council has helped me and many others. Thank you for making us feel that we are not alone, and for helping people with love and respect without discriminating between religion, race and language.

Grant funding provides family literacy education at Metompkin and Pungoteague Elementary Schools.

The Eastern Shore of Virginia Historical Society

The Eastern Shore of Virginia Historical Society preserves and interprets the history of the Eastern Shore, educates the community about its past, and serves as a cultural center.

The Eastern Shore of Virginia Historical Society, Inc., is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization formed in 1957 with a mission to preserve and interpret Eastern Shore history and to educate the community about its past. The organization offers itself as a vehicle for cultural enhancement as well as a facilitator for history education through our exhibits, programs, collections, and preservation initiatives.

The collections the Historical Society hold are vast and important intellectual tools for education and research. The Eastern Shore of Virginia's history is tied to the early success of the formation of the American colonies and the proper care and preservation of this collection is significant to this community and to the United States. The collections consist of valuable historic properties, artifacts, archives, and a library, all of which are used in exhibits, educational programs and in research projects.

The Historical Society maintains three properties - Ker Place, Hopkins & Bro. Store, and the Wise Family Cemetery - and has the rights to use the Samuel D. Outlaw Blacksmith Shop. Two of our properties Ker Place, which is the Historical Society headquarters, and the Hopkins & Bro. Store are National Historic landmark properties. Most recently, the organization undertook a capital campaign to replace and restore the bulkhead at Hopkins & Brothers Store. The Community Foundation provided a grant of $50,000 to assist with the project.

Before and after photos of the bulkhead at Hopkins & Brothers store.

The Historical Society also has a wide range of educational programs that target all age groups. We host lectures and evening seminars, art exhibits, and workshops throughout the year. For additional information on the Society, visit their website at <http://www.shorehistory.org>.

Mary N. Smith Alumni Association

The Mary N. Smith Cultural Enrichment Center provides a place that fosters an environment where the physical, cultural, educational and social needs of the community are met, and incorporates activities which encourage physical fitness, mental stability and economic security.

The dream of transforming the school attended by Accomack County's black students during segregation into a community center got a major boost with the award of a grant from the Eastern Shore of Virginia Community Foundation.

The $40,000 grant, along with some $23,000 raised by alumni and others, went towards the first phase of renovations to the former Mary N. Smith High School, now called the Mary N. Smith Center for Cultural Enrichment.

Additionally, two fully accessible restrooms are being constructed, along with installation of fire-rated doors and partitions and two ramps at entrances to the cafeteria and gymnasium.

Among the most-anticipated improvements is the installation of air conditioning and a new heating system.

Several organizations already have begun using the building, in which volunteers have labored for hours cleaning, painting and making repairs since Accomack County turned the deteriorating structure over to the alumni group in 2011.

Groups including the NAACP, the Salvation Army, local motorcycle clubs and Delta Sigma Theta, among others, regularly hold meetings and events at the center, including in the separate agricultural education building, which was maintained longer by the school district, which used it for alternative education for some time after the main building was closed.

The alumni organization, around 150 strong, includes graduates from between 1935 and 1970—the last year Mary N. Smith School operated as a high school before it was changed into a middle school after desegregation.

Still, looking to the future, the alumni envision a completely renewed facility that will continue to honor Smith's legacy of educating community youth.

As the letter accompanying the association's grant application to the Eastern Shore of Virginia Community Foundation said, "As a result of her efforts, countless students have benefited and have entered a variety of professional endeavors—having their educational foundation laid at Mary N. Smith High School...Mrs. Smith's dream is still alive."

Mary Nottingham Smith was a Northampton County native who after graduating from Hampton Institute taught in Essex County and Townsend, afterward serving as Supervisor of Schools in Concordia Parish, Louisiana.

She arrived back on the Eastern Shore of Virginia in 1920, when she was recruited to supervise the education of black students in Accomack County.

Smith felt the county needed a new high school for blacks.

It wasn't an easy process to get the school built. Smith raised money by seeking help from African American churches, asking local farmers to donate vegetables and getting support from teachers in the county's many one- and two-room schoolhouses.

She got her wish in 1932, when the school was opened in Accomac. Two years later, the school board named the building for her.

But by the late 1940s, the school was overcrowded, and construction soon began just north of town on a new high school for African American students. The name was retained, and the new Mary N. Smith High School opened in 1953.

Smith didn't live to see students in the school – she collapsed on Dec. 30, 1951 as she was about to drive to the school board office and died the same day. She was 69.

A Northampton County native – she was born in Townsend – Smith taught in Essex County and in Louisiana before returning to the Eastern Shore. She is buried at Ebenezer A.M.E. Church in Capeville.

Glick-Papetti Fund for the SPCA of the Eastern Shore

Ellen & Geoff Papetti

Lifelong love of dogs motivates generosity

As a private, no-kill, non-profit shelter, the SPCA of the Eastern Shore relies heavily on the support of the community. This year, they were especially honored to receive a wonderful surprise when they were notified that the Glick-Papetti Fund had been established by Ellen Papetti and her son, Geoffrey Glick to solely benefit the organization.

Ms. Papetti and her son, Geoff shared their history and motivation for establishing the fund, "Eleven years ago, my dog, "Puppygirl" had been abandoned and was wandering the roads near my home. She was frightened and elusive but with the help of a friend and advice from the shelter manager, I was able to find her and give her a good home. The rest is a happy love story."

"Our family has always had dogs," she continued. "Some rescues, some from breeders, but the SPCA always held a special place in our hearts for doing the good work they consistently do. As a result, when searching for a financial legacy to leave on the Shore, son Geoff and I decided to establish a donor designated fund at the Foundation with the SPCA as its beneficiary. It brings us great joy to know that this fund will continue long after we're gone."

Papetti's son Geoff also shared his story. We adopted "Ozzie" (a pit bull/lab mix) from Richmond Animal Control in May of 2006. He died after a long battle with lymphoma in March of 2017. For the nearly 11 years we had him, he brought unimaginable joy to my life and losing him was one of the most emotionally painful experiences that I've had in my life. We since have adopted several other rescues that have brought happiness and meaning to our lives. My mother felt it was important that we give back to the Eastern Shore and convinced me to join with her to start the fund."

"We picked the SPCA Eastern Shore," he explained, "because of our love for dogs and the joy and unconditional love that our rescues have given us. We hope that by making the SPCA our designee, that the animals who have been rescued will have a chance to be adopted and given the good and loving homes they deserve."

Designated Funds support one or more non-profit organizations in perpetuity. Selected organizations receive annual distributions in the donor's name, or any name chosen for the fund, forever. Should the named organization ever cease to exist, foundation staff and board members find an organization with as close a mission to the original and direct funds to that group.

For more information on donor advised funds, please visit our website at <http://www.esvcf.com>.

Remembering David M. Parker

David McMath Parker, 76, passed away on May 14, 2020. He was a devoted family man who was recognized as a community and business leader on the Eastern Shore of Virginia, as well as throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia.

David was the first Executive Director for the Eastern Shore of Virginia Community Foundation and his exemplary organizational ability helped our foundation fulfill its mission and become the organization that it is today. His many accomplishments are too numerous to list here and impacted our Eastern Shore community in many meaningful ways.

Congeniality, kindness and wit were a part of David Parker's style of leadership. His detailed planning and execution of those plans resulted in successful operations in every project he undertook and the vast number of organizations he led.

David gave tirelessly and unselfishly of his time. The success of the Eastern Shore of Virginia Community Foundation can be attributed to his efforts and his ability to partner with people of all walks of life.

It sounds too simple to just say thank you to someone for all they have done, and the friendship they shared. However, those two words are most appropriate in this case . . .

David, Thank You! We miss you with all our hearts.

Hampton Roads Community Foundation Year Ending December 31, 2019

The affiliate relationship between the Eastern Shore of Virginia Community Foundation and the Hampton Roads Community Foundation (HRCF) places stewardship of ESVCF capital assets with the Hampton Roads Community Foundation. Through its investment committee, which has investment oversight responsibility for an endowment of approximately $355 million, the Hampton Roads Community Foundation seeks to invest resources prudently in order to preserve and grow the endowment's capacity to fund grants in accordance with donors' wishes today and in the future.

The Hampton Roads Community Foundation is committed to being a good steward of the assets entrusted to it by generous donors over the past 68 years. HRCF invests its resources wisely so they grow to meet future needs while providing funds for grants and scholarships today.

Oversight of HRCF investment portfolio is handled by its investment committee, which works with its investment manager, Spider Management Company LLC of Richmond. Since 2011 the community foundation began investing with Spider Management through its Richmond Fund. The Hampton Roads Community Foundation joins University of Richmond and other nonprofit endowments as Spider Management partners.
